MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED.

Brother of Present Town Treasurer of Brookfield Never Found.

Of the middle at Brookfield the Montpelier Journal has the following to say recalling also an interesting incident: "The recent newspaper publication of certain alleged matters relating to Hon. C. H. Bigelow's administration of the office of treasurer of the town of Brookfield, might well have been postponed till investigation by competent and impartial persons had discovered the real facts in the case. Mr. Bigelow has maintained, all his life, an irreproachable character. He has been chosen for public office and in many ways has been trusted by his fellow townsmen and by people and institutions outside. No suspicion, no word of reproach, until recently lay against him. There appears to be nothing in his worldly condition or in his environment to warrant the belief that he has gone wrong in administering the duties of the office of treasurer of the town of his life long residence."

Mr. Bigelow may have made mistakes, there may be confusions in his accounts. On the face of things appearances may be against him, but he has proposed to the selectmen that expert accountants be employed to sift matters and report. The Journal understands that this proposition was not accepted.

It is recalled in this connection that some years ago E. P. Bigelow, a brother of Mr. Bigelow, then also town clerk and treasurer of Brookfield, and a merchant, departed for market with a considerable sum of money, and disappeared utterly from the view of his friends and acquaintances. So far as the public knows, nothing has since been heard from him. His accounts were found to be entirely regular. His brother, the present clerk and treasurer, was appointed to succeed the official who had disappeared, and has annually been elected to the office in question.

The present is clearly a case in which, with greatest reason and propriety, a suspension of judgment may be asked.

EVENING SCHOOL AT GODDARD.

Business Instruction Will Be Offered Three Times a Week.

There seems to be an unusual demand for an evening school in this city. Many young men have expressed the desire to learn something of business methods, who feel that they cannot afford to give up their work and attend a commercial school. It has seemed best to the management of Goddard Seminary, to attempt to please this class of young men and offer the best of the regular business course to them in an evening school. Mr. Rotzel, who is conducting the work of the commercial department so successfully at the Seminary, will have charge of the work in the evening school, and also give the instruction.

He will offer four subjects, bookkeeping, business arithmetic, correspondence and penmanship. With the work in correspondence he will give practical instruction in English, such as will help the business man to conduct his correspondence in a manner more satisfactory to himself.

The class will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7 o'clock. The tuition has been placed within the reach of all, $10 for 3 months.

If any one taking this work should care to take up the regular business course later, he would receive credit for the work done in evening school. Principal Hollister will be at the seminary every evening this week and will be glad to receive calls from any one interested in such a school.

SHUTTING IN SALMON TROUT.

Sluiceway Made at Outlet of Caspian Lake.

Greensboro, Sept. 15.—The summer campers, having discovered that the landlocked salmon have escaped from Caspian Lake, have just completed a sluiceway at the outlet of the lake and doubly screened the flume so that hereafter no more fish can escape. Since the high water last spring salmon have occasionally appeared in the Lamelle river and from thence they find their way to Lake Champlain and the St. Lawrence, so that one enterprising landlord on the shores of Lake Champlain advertised this summer that salmon fishing was a special attraction of his hotel. The summer visitors and the merchants raised a purse of $2,000 to make the necessary repairs at the outlet of the lake and hereafter the sportsmen in other waters will have to depend on other sources for their salmon.

BERLIN.

Mrs. Paul Knapp is staying for a while at Mr. Davenport's.

Martin Andrews of Massachusetts, a native of Berlin, has been a visitor here recently.

The Universalist Sunday school people of Williamstown enjoyed a day at the Lake Saturday, the 12th.

Predictions point to a fair attendance of Berlin people at the Northfield fair if the weather is fair, especially of the fair sex.

Very little corn has been cut the farmers wishing it to have the benefit of the warm weather we are having. There is no possibility of an average crop this season even if the favorable weather continues for some time.

It is expected that work will soon be commenced on the new line of the N. E. T. & C. Co.'s telephone line in the east part of the town. Ira Gray, E. J. Woodbury, A. E. Covell, H. M. Perrin, J. N. Perrin, William Brown, I. Slocum, M. Cheney and Ira Benjamin are among the subscribers.

CUSTOM HOUSE CHANGES.

Two Removals Under Charges—Civil Service Examiner Here Next Month.

Burlington, Sept. 16.—There have recently been some changes in the custom house service. Herbert W. Ballard and Selim Newell of the St. Albans office have been removed under charges and Charles C. Taylor and Elton L. Corse have been appointed to their places.

There will be a civil service examination held at the custom house in Burlington Oct. 12 for stenographers, typewriters, translators, etc., also for press feeder, dynamo tender, pressman, railway mail clerk and other positions.

Hard Luck

Had his house painted with "stuff" that cost him 75 cents per gallon. A painter charged 27 1-2 cents per hour for his work and within six weeks charged another 27 1-2 cents per hour to scrape the "stuff" off and on top of this charged another 27 1-2 cents per hour to put on Colonial Paint. That was six years ago and Colonial Paint is still there, bright and smooth.

Moral—Steer clear of Hard Luck's trials.
